

FOCUS OF DISCIPLESHIP

The mission of the church has always been disciple making. It is the only command that Jesus emphasized before He ascends to heaven and the only strategy of world evangelization (Matt 28:19-20). It is the process of bringing people into the right relationship with God and developing them into full maturity in Christ through a series of intentional growth strategies that they may multiply the entire process in others also.

Today, there is a dire need of focusing on discipleship because the church is losing its emphasis on making disciples which affects the spiritual authority, moral authority and biblical authority of the church.

Each of us as believers need to focus in becoming a mature disciple of Jesus in our walk with God and there are three things a disciple needs to focus:

Intimacy with the Master. We need to acknowledge that God is our master because we are here to please Him and do His will as His servant instead of the other way round. A disciple needs to always deepen his or her relationship with God with the motivation of building such intimacy to please God instead of fulfilling our own religious duty. Every prayer, Bible study, tithes and offerings given, Sunday services and Holy Communion done personally or corporately should lead us to deepen our intimacy with our master.

Loving and willing obedience. Our love for our master must also be evidenced with obedience in His Word. Obedience is not to grit our teeth and clench our fists in doing whatever instruction thrown at us from the Bible. Obedience that pleases our master is one which is done through a loving relationship with God and willing heart to apply His commands.

Changed and fruitful life. The reading of God's Word and the hearing of God's instruction is never meant to give more information. It is for transformation of life so that our values, mindset, emotions and attitude can be changed from the inside out. There must be a

The test of disciple is obedience. The testimony of a disciple is a changed life. End of discipleship is Christ-likeness. May we live out these three essential focusses as we sought to become a mature disciple of our master in our daily life as we spur each other toward this goal together as a body of Christ.
